

Abstract

The present invention relates to a pharmaceutical composition, in particular to a composition for administering active agents which are poorly soluble in aqueous media, and/or which are acid sensitive.